

How to Study the OT

Nature of the Word

- How does the Lecture describe the Nature of the Bible? What does each point tell us about the Old Testament? How does each point teach us the best way to study and understand the Old Testament? How should we respond to each of these three characteristics of the OT?
- What are the three categories of things we should learn from the OT? Why are each of these important? How are they related to the Nature of the Bible? Which of the three is most important? Why?

3 Types of Communication

- What are the three types of communication in the literature of the Old Testament? What are the general characteristics of each? How does this influence the way we should learn from each?

How to Study the OT

- What is the process of God's revelation coming to us? How should we respond in the way we study the Old Testament? What are the possible problems in this process and why should we avoid them?

Presentation Organization

- What is said about how the rest of this course is constructed? What are the four things that will be covered? How are these things related to the nature of the Bible and the proper way to study it?

Review

Review the nature of the Old Testament and work toward committing them to memory.

Review the categories of what we should learn and work toward committing them to memory.